Gujarati Script

Mastering Gujarati Script for Effective Communication

DEFINITION

Gujarati script is the writing system used for the Gujarati language. It consists of vowels, consonants, and various symbols that represent sounds.

KEY CONCEPTS

Vowels

Vowels in Gujarati script represent the basic sounds and are essential for forming words.

Consonants

Consonants are the letters that combine with vowels to create syllables and words.

Diacritics

Diacritics are additional marks used with letters to modify their sounds or pronunciation.

Word Formation

Words are formed by combining vowels and consonants according to specific rules.

Punctuation

Punctuation marks in Gujarati help structure sentences and clarify meaning.

EXAMPLES

- ક (ka) + અ (aa) = કા (kaa)
→ મ (ma) + ન (n) = મના (mna)
→ સ (sa) + ઇ (i) = સિ (si)

MEMORY TIPS

- ★ Visualize each letter as a character in a story to remember their shapes.
★ Group similar letters together to recognize patterns in their formation.
★ Use rhymes or songs to memorize the order of vowels and consonants.

COMMON MISTAKES

- ✗ Confusing similar-looking letters like ક and ક.
✗ Omitting diacritics when writing vowels.
✗ Incorrectly combining consonants and vowels.

QUICK RECAP

Gujarati script is essential for reading and writing in Gujarati. Focus on mastering vowels and consonants, as they form the basis of word creation. Remember to practice combining letters and using diacritics correctly.
