ONE PAGE SUMMARY

Kids Learning › Good Habits › Sharing

What is Sharing

Sharing is Caring: The Joy of Giving!

DEFINITION

> Sharing means giving a part of what you have to others. It helps build friendships and makes everyone happy.

KEY CONCEPTS

Importance of Sharing

Sharing helps create strong bonds and shows kindness to others.

Types of Sharing

You can share toys, food, or even your time with friends and family.

Benefits of Sharing

Sharing can lead to more fun, cooperation, and understanding among friends.

Overcoming Hesitation

Sometimes, kids feel scared to share; practicing can help them feel more comfortable.

Sharing vs. Taking

Sharing is about giving willingly, while taking can be selfish and hurtful.

EXAMPLES

→ Letting a friend borrow your favorite book.

→ Sharing snacks during lunchtime with classmates.

→ Helping a sibling with their homework.

MEMORY TIPS

★ Think of 'Share' as 'Care' – both start with 'C'.

★ Remember the phrase: 'What I have, I give.'

★ Visualize a circle – sharing keeps the happiness going around.

COMMON MISTAKES

✗ Thinking sharing means losing something forever.

✗ Only sharing when asked instead of offering first.

✗ Not understanding that sharing can include feelings and ideas.

QUICK RECAP

Sharing is an important habit that strengthens friendships and spreads joy. Remember to share willingly and think of the happiness it brings to others.