What is Report Problems

Learn to Report Problems for a Safer Internet Experience!

DEFINITION

> Reporting problems means telling an adult or authority about something wrong online. This helps keep everyone safe from harmful content or behavior.

KEY CONCEPTS

Types of Problems

Problems can include cyberbullying, inappropriate content, or suspicious messages.

Who to Report To

You can report issues to a parent, teacher, or website moderators.

Importance of Reporting

Reporting helps protect not just you, but also other kids from harm.

How to Report

Use the report button on websites or apps, or explain the issue to an adult.

Staying Safe

Always tell someone if you see something that makes you uncomfortable.

EXAMPLES

→ Reporting a mean comment on a game.

→ Telling a teacher about a scary message.

→ Using the report feature on a social media app.

MEMORY TIPS

★ Remember 'R' for Report: Report, React, and Recover.

★ Think of a superhero: You are the hero when you report problems!

★ Use the acronym SAFE: Speak, Alert, Follow up, Educate.

COMMON MISTAKES

✗ Not reporting problems because they think it's not serious.

✗ Ignoring warning signs or messages.

✗ Waiting too long to tell an adult about an issue.

QUICK RECAP

Reporting problems online is crucial for safety. Always tell an adult about any issues you encounter. Remember, your voice can help protect others too!
